Community Canneries To Open on Friday

THERE'S A LUCKY MAN IN APPOMATTOX!

There is at least one very lucky man in Appomattox. We are informed that yesterday morning, Percy Thomason, local service station operator started out to go to seek the services of a veterinarian for one of his dogs, En route he lost his billfold. Hours later, Ray Godsey was driving along Route 460, and saw a billfold in the road. He stopped and picked it up. It had been run over repeatedly by cars and by trucks, and was flattened out. But it was intact, and had Mr. Thompson's money and identification. Mr. Godsey was happy to take the several hundred dollars back to the owner. Here's a salute to an alert man, and an honest man!

Better Corn Storage Can Increase Price

How much farmers' corn will bring this fall may well depend on its quality. That's true whether the corn is sold on the market or placed under a CCC price support loan.

Mr. C. D. Lewis, Chairman of the ASC County Committee, made that observation this week in pointing to the need for more good grain storage on Appomattox County farms.

Even good quality corn when dumped on the market at harvest time will bring less than when sold later on, the chairman said. Safe and sound storage is needed to keep corn in condition whether it is to be sold later or fed.

Mr. Lewis's advice to farmers is "to check up now on the adequacy of your crib or bin space. Take the necessary steps to make repairs, see that the space is thoroughly cleaned, else otherwise put it in shape. It will pay farmers in the end to do this."

He also reminded farmers that there's time to obtain and erect farm storage facilities for housing crops to be harvested later this year. The ASC county office can provide information on a storage facility loan program which is offered to farmers who need help in financing the purchase of storage facilities.

New Post Office Here Ready in Late August

New Sunday Sale Laws To Go Into Effect

A new law, enacted by the recent session of the Virginia General Assembly, as to Sunday sales, goes into effect on Sunday, July 3.

A certain amount of confusion exists, at the initial period of this new law, as to what may or may not be sold on Sunday. For example, it would appear that you may buy camera film on a Sunday, but not a camera. Some merchants may be in a quandry as to what to sell or not to sell, and enforcement of the new law is doubtless in the formulative stage.

As a broad general policy, merchants may not be supposed to sell such items as jewelry, silverware, watches, clocks, luggage, musical instruments, recordings, toys, footwear wearing apparel, yard goods, housewares, kitchenware, business or office furniture, boating and fishing appliances, etc. But there are many exemptions in the law, and the general opinion seems to be it will make little effect in this on established Sunday sale policy.

Lands A Big One!

Warren Eugene Guill is shown above with a large tuna fish caught on a recent fishing expedition to Waschaprague, off Virginia's Eastern Shore. The top catch weighed 30 pounds. The smaller fish shown was landed miles out in the Atlantic Ocean, by his brother, Ronnie Guill. Others on the fishing trip included: Wallace Haley, Pete Doss, and Jim Seay.

Work is rapidly nearing completion on the new building on Court Street to be occupied by the Appomattox Post Office. Flooring is being laid this week, and furniture and fixtures are expected to begin arriving next week.

A formal opening and dedication is being planned for late August, at a date to be announced. Mrs. J. R. Lawson is serving as chairman for the Opening, and states that a dignatory from the Post Office Department will be invited to attend the opening ceremonies.

Bank Deposits Reflect Growth

As a normal pattern, bank deposits here are at low mark for a year in June. There are several reasons for this, including the income tax payment deadline, end of the tobacco marketing season, and other seasonable factors. However, according to periodical statements published today by the two local banks, a very satisfactory condition is reflected. According to a comparison with similar statements a year ago, combined deposits here are some $235,000 ahead of combined deposits in June, 1959.

Total deposits at the two banks are well above the $6,000,000 total.

Byrd Against Pledge

Senator Harry F. Byrd has announced that he will not sign a pledge in advance to support the nominee of the National Democratic Convention. He said: "We owe our allegiance to our respective States."

Quiet Fourth Expected Here

Monday is July 4th, and a traditional holiday. In Appomattox, it will generally be observed as such, although a number of the business places will remain open as usual. There's no set pattern in this regard. The two local banks, and the post office will be closed. But the largest local industrial payroll, Appomattox Garment Co., inc., in order to meet pressing delivery commitments, will remain in operation. It will give the holiday later.

Essay Pays Tribute To Va. Div. U.D.C. Historian

(NOTE: This essay was written and submitted by Mrs. Thomas Jackson Blair, Third Vice-President, Virginia Division, United Daughters of the Confederacy and was the first prize in the annual contest, conducted by the Division. Mrs. Blair served as president and as historian of the Alleghany Chapter, UDC, during Mrs. Cary's tenure as Division Historian and is a great admirer of this fine woman who gave so much of herself and her rich Southern heritage to the United Daughters of the Confederacy.)

(Note: Mrs. Cary lived a while in Appomattox and was a sister of the late Mrs. Wm. A. Coleman).

Mrs. Virginia Ferguson Cary

Her Contributions to Virginia Division and General United Daughters of The Confederacy

Virginia Ferguson Cary was the daughter of one of Col. John S. Mosby's Rangers and as such she followed in her father's footsteps as she dedicated herself to making the United Daughters of the Confederacy the greatest historical organization in the world. Throughout the years she worked toward her goal and it can be recorded that no one in the organization contributed more to historical work. Virginia Division can point with pride to her work in the Division and for the wonderful work she performed as Historian General.

Untiringly, faithfully, dedicated, Virginia Ferguson Cary worked to advance the work of the Historical Department of the organization.

In her first year as Division Historian, Virginia received the Raines Banner and all are agreed that it was through her unceasing efforts that the Chapters rallied round and brought the Banner Home.

In an address to the Warren Rifles Chapter of Front Royal, as Division Historian, Mrs. Cary planted a seed which has grown into one of the outstanding flowers in Virginia. She urged the Warren Rifles to acquire the Belle Boyd Cottage and use it as a museum to treasure and preserve the wealth of Confederate articles, letters and papers scattered through the country. She pointed out that Front Royal was in dire need of such a sanctuary because of the great number of tourists visiting the town. The coming of World War II caused the seed to lay dormant for a time, but the faithful Daughters had not forgotten it. They watered it well and are now proud to show all visitors a beautiful $138,000.00 building which is dedicated to the Confederacy.

The Appomattox and Pamplin Community Canneries will open for the 1960 canning season on Friday, July 1st. The canneries will operate Mondays through Fridays. Hours will be 8 A. M. to 4 P. M. All food to be processed should be at the cannery not later than 2 P. M.

Mrs. Emma Lemon and Mr. R. C. Beale will again be the instructors at the Appomattox Cannery. Mrs. A. R. Southall will be the instructor at the Pamplin Cannery. Boilermen will be Judson McDaniel at Appomattox and Howard Flood at Pamplin.

Several items of new equipment have been installed in the two canneries. A new boiler and a special conveyor type exhausting unit have been installed in the Pamplin Cannery. At Appomattox, a pulping machine for use in making tomato juice, and pluping fruits and other vegetables has been installed.

In 1959 Appomattox Cannery did the sixth largest volume of canning in the State of Virginia, with 39,286 cans and jars of food processed. A total of 572 people used the cannery.

Pamplin Cannery was 37th in the State in cans processed, with 16,-199 being put up. A total of 295 people used the Pamplin Cannery.

Total canneries operating in the State in 1959 were 99. Volume canned in the 1959 season was considerably below that of the previous year. This was attributed primarily to weather conditions.

Cost of using the canneries this year will be as follows:

No. 2 cans, .07
No. 3 cans, .08.
Grinding sausage or hamburger, per pound, .02, and Rendering lard, per pound, .02.

Over 1,800 Had X-Rays

A total of 1,801 Appomattox Co. citizens were X-rayed June 17th through June 23rd in an intensive tuberculosis survey conducted by the Southside Tuberculosis Association and the Appomattox County Health Department.

Mrs. Emma G. Anthony, Executive Director of the Southside TB Association, and Dr. Francis T. Clements, Southside District Health Director, expressed their appreciation for the splendid cooperation and invaluable service given by the Home Demonstration Clubs in conducting a county-wide house-to-house canvass prior to the survey and to those who served as registrars at the clinics.

Mrs. Anthony said approximately 1500 families were visited by H. D. C. members to stress the importance of getting a free chest X-ray while the mobile unit was in their neighborhood. A piece of literature pertaining to tuberculosis was left with each family in an effort to further the TB Association's Health Education program. In thanking Mrs. Ella Anderson, the County Home Demonstration Agent, on behalf of the TB Association, Mrs. Anthony stated, "We appreciate even more the part your club members played in making this survey a success as we realize this is one of the busiest seasons of the year for people living on farms."

Mrs. Theda Harris and Mrs. Mozelle Price were co-chairmen for the Negro house-to-house canvass.

Mass X-raying is only a part of the total program of the TB Association. Funds from the Christmas Seal Campaign are used for such purposes as: scholarships, rehabilitation, education of the public as to the prevention and treatment of TB, aid to indigent patients, for school health bulletins to all second grade students in the area, and research.
